

September 29, 2008

To Whom it May Concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend to you, Mr. Greg Hall.

I had the good fortune to have worked on a large and extremely complicated residence located in Palm Desert, California on which Mr. Hall acted as the construction manager. It took nearly four years from the design to completion. Without his effort, the residence could not have turned out the way it did. My role as Lighting Consultant Principal Designer extended to all areas of the home and included some material previously unknown to the electrical contractor selected for the project. Flangeless trim recessed lighting fixtures, fiber optic lighting, electro-luminescent, LEDs and a variety of architecturally integrated fluorescent products, that I like to use, were successfully installed by the electrical contractor, all coordinated by Mr. Hall.

All discussions and or meetings had been constructive and organized. Mr. Hall was consistently prepared for and knowledgeable about the matters to be discussed. I always felt supported and guided.

The work done in the lighting and controls area for a large home like the one I did for my client under the direction of Mr. Hall was demanding. It required a high level of skill in a variety of areas including organization, creativity, expertise, and craftsmanship.

Mr. Hall is invited to share this letter with any prospective clients who contact him about possible work on new projects. Any such prospect is welcome to contact me. They will learn that we have no association with Mr. Hall, we are not related, and not affiliated in any way.

Sincerely,

Steven L. Klein

Steven L. Klein, IALD, LC, IESNA, LEED AP

October 20, 2008

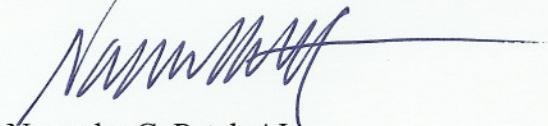

To Whom It May Concern,

This letter is my personal recommendation for Greg Hall. I have worked closely with Greg for the past three and half years on two projects located in Palm Desert. These projects involved complex geometry and challenging architecture. It required a high level of skills in multiple expertises' and craftsmanship. He worked as superintendent for both projects and is a take-charge person who is able to get the job done. Greg was able to successfully execute the complicated design through his ability to interpret and communicate with his team of subcontractors, while making sure they performed high quality workmanship.

During our time working together, he was an effective communicator, often serving as my liaison to scattered members of the job site. He also coordinated project meetings involving numerous people, and his ability to work collaboratively while guiding the project quickly and effectively was outstanding.

I highly recommend Greg Hall as a superintendent. He is an extremely hard worker and would make a great asset to any construction project.

Sincerely,

Narendra C. Patel, AIA
Patel Architecture, Inc.

September 29, 2008

To whom it may concern,

I have worked closely with Greg Hall for about two years on the construction of a large, very complicated and difficult to build home located in the Bighorn Development in Palm Desert.

I have found that Greg has the ability to grasp very complex issues and interpret complicated two dimensional drawings into the built environment. He had a good relationship with the subcontractors on the job and pushed them to perform to a high level of quality.

It was a pleasure to work with Greg. He has a "can do" attitude and would always find a way to bring the original design intent to reality. I would fully recommend him for any type of construction management position.

Brian J. Witteman, AIA
Project Architect
Deep River Partners, Ltd.